COMMENTS FROM THE TOWN MANAGER'S OFFICE

The State Aid Road construction is coming along on schedule. We hope to have most of the gravel in by Saturday night.

You will please note the Special Town Meeting Friday Evening, Oct. 14, to consider the slight change in Elm Street.

There is also the possibility of the Town having the opportunity to acquire the small plot of land at the junction of Broad and Paradise Streets. This would make a nice little park if the Town is interested in it, and the offer is eventually made.

There are also two cemetery trust funds to accept, if the Town so votes. This calls our attention to the condition of the West Bethel Flat Cemetery, also the one at Skillington. I would like to urge that at least the Budget Committee view both these cemeteries before snow flies, to be in a better position to make recommendations for next year's budget.

Thanks,

O. T. Rozelle

Our readers, of all ages, are asked to read the advertisement on page six which is addressed to young drivers of automobiles. The message is of great importance and should be heeded. Please note that credit for safe driving habits is given the majority of young drivers.

Bethel drivers seem to follow the common pattern. By far the greater number are careful and conscientious. But there are a few, and by no means confined to the younger drivers, whose conduct is deserving of criticism.

The "fast but safe" driver is certainly no model to follow. His so-called safety many times is the result of timely dodging or the sacrificing of their rights by the rest of us.

The "cowboy" driver, of any age, is an excellent example of pure selfishness. Locally we have our full share of these, many of whom are conspicuous by parking at their convenience with a fine disregard of others' safety.

This series of advertisements is published in the hope of eventual improvement.

BUTLER TELLS C. OF C. SEASON AT BETHEL INN SHOWS INCREASE

Following the business meeting of the Bethel Chamber of Commerce at the American Legion Home Tuesday evening, Guy P. Butler, principal owner of Bethel Inn, gave an interesting talk on the plans of the new management. He stated that the downward trend of patronage of the last few years has been halted during the past season and a pleasing increase has been enjoyed. Explanations of some of the problems encountered and answers to questions of the townspeople in recent months were given. Plans and hopes for year round operation were divulged but no time was named for this change of policy. Mr. Butler expressed appreciation of local interest and told of methods now in use to acquaint Maine people in general with the Inn's and Bethel's attractive location.

During the business meeting the president was instructed to appoint a committee to consult Burton Newton, offering assistance of the Chamber of Commerce in any way. It was also voted that the secretary write to Carl Broggi, the recently appointed head of the new Department of Development of Industry and Commerce, reminding him of the industrial advantages of this community. Town Manager Rozelle outlined the matters to be taken up at the special town meeting on Friday evening, Oct. 14.

Twenty-nine members and four guests were present.

MESO PLACES PHYSICALLY HANDICAPPED WORKERS

The Maine Employment Security Commission, through its 13 local offices, has, during the past 10 months, placed some 861 physically handicapped workers in jobs of one kind or another—mostly in industry—but carefully and scientifically placed in jobs which they can do—where they can become self-supporting, self-reliant, productive citizens and take their rightful place among other workers in the community.

The several offices of the Commission now carry on a year-round program for the placement of the physically handicapped and the fact that, during the past 5 1/2 years, more than 6,000 handicapped workers have been placed in gainful employment presents outstanding evidence of the exceptional job which has been accomplished.

Employer prejudice has been broken down and the handicapped themselves have made the greatest contribution in this respect. On the job their work records have shown them to be just as dependable, just as reliable and just as efficient in their work as the non-handicapped were in theirs. Their absence records are comparable with all workers and their safety records in industry have been most outstanding.

During this Employ the Handicapped Week, employers are being asked to survey their job opportunities and to see if one or more of the qualified handicapped workers now registered in Maine's Employment offices might not be used. A large number of Maine's business firms have found it was good business to employ the handicapped, who want jobs—not charity—and to take their rightful place in the community as independent, self-supporting and respected citizens.

but against many American and foreign high-priced cars, too!

Let's translate these victories into your kind of driving. You've got to have faster acceleration to win on the tracks. And that means safer passing on the highways. You've got to have better springing and suspension. For your safer and happier motoring. You've got to have big, fast-acting brakes and easy, accurate steering. More things that make your driving safer! Come in and drive a Chevrolet yourself.

Read John 10:11-18.

I am the good shepherd; the good shepherd giveth his life for the sheep. (John 10:11.)

The shepherd is gentle toward his sheep. He leads them into green pastures and beside still waters. The sheep are at peace with him; they trust in his protecting presence.

I have witnessed such scenes in Portugal where hungry wolf packs daringly attack the flocks. The shepherd, however, confronts them with equal daring, risking his life in defense of his sheep.

The parables of Jesus always have conclusions based on real life facts. He called himself the good Shepherd. He risked his life to save us from the gnashing teeth of the wolf of sin. He willing gave it to save our sinful souls, unworthy even of a much lesser sacrifice.

Do we appreciate this costly sacrifice? A mother or father might make such a sacrifice for a son or daughter. Christ sacrificed Himself of all without distinction, pouring out His precious blood for all alike.

Prayer

Blessed God, we know that the good Shepherd goes on before us. Help us to follow in His footsteps so that we may come into a life of peace in communion with Thee. In the name of our good Shepherd we pray, Amen.

Thought For The Day

Following Jesus—the good Shepherd—we will find the way. TAVARES FRANCO (Brazil)

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

Angola, Ind., Republican: "Our educational problem is two-pronged: a lack of proper classroom space and a shortage of teachers."

The Federal government is now taking about one-third of people's income and returning to the 1914 communities a small fraction of a great cost in the charge of handling. If the Federal government should return to the states certain areas of taxation or certain percentage of income taxes collected, the state, under local supervision, could meet the tremendous problem confronting it."

Wildwood, N. J., Leader: "What the so-called 'Federal Aid' seems to be is a costly system or redistribution of wealth, whereby the federal government increases its power and control over matters formerly under the jurisdiction of the states. It has been ruled by the Supreme Court that whatever the government subsidizes it has the right to control."

Our Governor's Committee on Highway Safety reminds us that we, as drivers, can do a great deal to protect youngsters in traffic. They urge us to be exceptionally careful in school zones, to obey the law by stopping for any school bus which is loading or discharging pupils, and by being alert for children at all times, especially in residential areas. The life of a child is a precious thing...let's do everything in our power to protect that life.

Conservation Farming In Oxford County — by Douglas L. Marston Soil Conservation Service

With cold weather coming upon us fast this might be a good time to think about making your farm pond accessible during the coming winter in case of fire. The pond must not only be reached by the fire truck, but it also must be easily and quickly accessible for the suction hose from the pump.

The best way to make sure of quick and easy access is to have a small barrel or other container in the pond and have this full of a salt brine solution so that it will not freeze. A nail keg, or similar sized container would be ideal. A nail keg may have to be treated with asphalt so that it will not leak, but any tight container of from 5 to 10 gallon capacity would be suitable. This should be attached to small logs to keep it afloat at the surface.

The concentration of the salt brine is quite important and should be at least 60 per cent salt. To make such a solution put 6 pounds of salt in a gallon pail and fill up with water; a 5 gallon barrel would require 25 pounds of salt. Some sort of cover should be provided to prevent the solution from becoming diluted; and the brine should be checked during the winter to be sure it is doing the job. Stirring may be necessary to keep the salt from settling out.
